

YOUR WEEKLY SNAPSHOT

Welcome to this week's edition of "Your Weekly Snapshot".

The 6th - 10th of September is National Child Protection week and is the focus for this weekly snapshot. You will find information from the National Association for Prevention of Child Abuse and Neglect (NAPCAN) about National Child Protection Week. There is a direct link to the Advice and Referral line for Tasmanians. Dr Karen Treisman talks about how relationships can heal trauma and Catharine Hydon's 3-part webinar is not to be missed!

THIS WEEK'S ARTICLES

National Child Protection Week

6th - 12th September

Celebrating 30 years

The theme for National Child Protection Week this year is 'Putting children first...'. It is an opportunity to raise awareness and to share the important message that every child has the right to a life that is free from violence and harm.

How will you acknowledge National Child Protection Week?

Strong Families, Safe Kids Advice and Referral Line

With National Child Protection Week commencing the September 6th, now is a good time to revisit what resources we have available here in Tasmania for protecting children. The Strong Families Safe Kids, advice and referral line is designed to be the first point of contact for child wellbeing and safety.

Who is the Advice and Referral Line for?

Everyone with a concern about the safety and wellbeing of a child: Mandatory Reporters, concerned relatives, friends or neighbours.

Parents and children can also call to ask for help for themselves.

Good relationships are the key to healing trauma - TED Talk

Dr Karen Treisman talks about how important reciprocal relationships are in healing trauma. Dr Treisman encourages people to look beyond a child's behaviour and acknowledge that it is a form of communication. She states 'relational trauma, needs relational repair'

eSafetykids

eSafetykids platform is specifically designed for children who need support and advice when experiencing online bullying or being exposed to inappropriate content. This is a good resource to share with families because protecting children is everybody's business.

'eSafety can give you advice, support and help if you are being bullied online. We can also help remove serious cyberbullying material that is threatening, intimidating, harassing or humiliating.'
